THE CHRONICLE.

When Field Marshal von Moltke was a simple Colonel, he astonished the members of his mess by regularly taking ten Frederick d'ors out of his pocket, at the beginning of dinner, and laying them beside his plate. Always after dinner he repocketed the gold, buttoned up his coat, looked sourly around, and disappeared. It was resolved to ask him the meaning of his strange behavior. "Well," he said, "I have noticed that from the time I entered this regiment the conversation at table has always turned on women, or cards, or horse racing; and I had determined to make a present of the ten pieces of gold to the first man who should start a sensible subject. No one has yet earned them.

An Englishman visiting Sweden, noticing their care for neglected children, who were taken from the streets and highways and placed in special schools, inquired if it was not costly. He received the suggestive answer: "Yes, it is costly but not dear. We Swedes are not rich enough to let a child grow up in ignorance, misery and crime, to become afterward a scourge to society, as well as a disgrace to himself."

"Doctor," said a wife to a practicioner who was cutting open her husband's chest as he was in a fit of apoplexy, "cut if you please along the seam."

The State of Maine pays a $5 bounty for every bear killed within its limits. Last year was apparently a good, or bad year for bears, for 549 were killed, costing the State $2,745.

There is no man clever enough to know all the evils which he does.

THE MAN AND THE PICNIC.

Under the shell-bark hickory tree
The picnic man he stands;
A woeful-looking man is he,
With leprosy and palsy hands:
And the soil that sticks to his trousers' knee,
Is the soil of several lands.

His hair is massed, his hat is torn,
His clothes are like the ground;
He wishes he had never been born,
Or being born never found.
He glares and scowls in wrathful scorn
As oft he looks around.

At early morn, in suit of white,
He sought the picnic park;
His face was clean, his heart was light,
His loud song marked the lark.
But now, although the day is bright,
His world, alas, is dark.

In joyous mood, at early morn,
He sat upon the stump.
But soon, as though upon a thorn
He sat, with mighty jump
He leaped aloft, and all forlorn
In haste he did crump.

For lo, in hoards the big black ants
With nippers long and slim,
Went swiftly crawling up his pants,
And made it warm for him;
And through the woods they make him dance
With gasp and groan and vim,

And when the rustic feast is spread,
And she is sitting by,
His wildwood garland on her head,
The love-light in her eye,
He—woe, oh, woe! would He were dead!
Sits in the custard pie.

And now they send him up the tree
To fix the picnic swing,
And up the shell-bark's scraggy side,
They laugh to see him cling;
They cannot hear the words he cries,
"Dad fetch! dog gone! dad bing!

And now he wisheth he were down,
And yet he can not see,
Just how the giggle, stare and frown
Escaped by him may be;
He knows he can not scramble down
With his back against the tree,

Sobbing and sidling and wailing
Homeward alone he goes;
Clay, pie and grass stains on his pants,
More and more plainly shows;
And he avows that to any more picnics
He never will go, he knows.

But the morrow comes, and its rising sun
Brings balm to his tattered breeks;
He thinks, after all, he had lots of fun,
And hopefully, gaily he speaks,
And he goes to picnics, one by one,
Nine times in the next five weeks.

Ingersoll as a Jury Lawyer.

On one occasion, several years ago, Col. Ingersoll was engaged in Illinois as counsel for a farmer who had quarreled with a neighbor and shot him dead. The evidence was plain on that point, though there was nothing to show that the prisoner had not believed he was acting in self-defence When Ingersoll was addressing the jury he drew a pathetic picture of the prisoner's wife and children—he had declined to allow them to be present at the trial, as a less sagacious advocate would have done—waiting in eager expectation for his return, confident that he would be acquitted of a crime he would not have committed except to save his own life—so dear to his family, so necessary to their protection and support.

"I see the wife now," continued the shrewd barrister, "standing at the door of her house, the sunlight in her hair, straining her eyes after the figure of the man dearer than all the world to her. I see her little boys swinging on the gate with smiles about their lips, gazing down the road, watching for their beloved innocent father, and sure he is coming. They are all ready, the dear little fellows, to jump down and run after him, to leap into his arms and kiss away his sadness—the shadow of his unfortunate deed—while they cry, 'Dear, dear father, we know you would come!' And, gentlemen of the jury, you who are husbands and fathers, won't you let him go home?"

The members of the jury were listening with wet eyes and leaning toward the eloquent advocate. The foreman, a big, brawny, kind-hearted farmer, the tears on his sun-burned cheeks, was so carried away that, thinking the question personally addressed to him and demanding an answer, exclaimed in a choking voice;

"Yes, Bob, we'll let him go home." Ingersoll had not half completed his pleading, but he knew that this was the supreme moment, and sat down.

The prosecuting attorney made a strong speech in reply, but it was, of course, entirely in vain. The jury after being out five minutes, returned a unanimous verdict of acquittal.

"Job Printing." Exclaimed an old lady the other day as she peeped over her spectacles at the advertising page of a country newspaper. "Poor Job! they've kept him printing week after week, ever since I learnt to read; and if he wasn't the patientest man that ever was he never could have stood it so long, no how."

The San Antonio Herald describes a scene before the Grand Jury as follows: Foreman—"Gentlemen, it is not necessary to administer the oath of secrecy to this witness, as he is a member of the press, and nobody would believe anything he might divulge, anyhow."

A Judge sentencing a man to death observed: "Prisoner at the bar, you will soon have to appear before another and perhaps a better Judge."

A child sat down on a hot stove hearth in Pittsburg, and was permanently branded with the words "Boss Burner."

Morals and Manners of German Officers.

[Pall Mall Gazette.]

German officers are undoubtedly the most highly educated in the world. They can only get promotion by continuous study and they take a professional pride in a culture which places them immeasurably above their men. In this respect they truly form an aristocracy. Again, they have a strict code of honor which is kept in force by duelling, and which lays upon them the necessity of being very correct in their behavior, not only to each other, but to private civilians. A German officer can only fight a duel with a man who is socially his equal, and is expected to fight whenever he is challenged, on that if he quite disregards such a disagreeable kernel with an instinct, he finds himself in solitude from which there is no escape except by throwing up his commission. Some years ago a Prussian officer had his face slapped in the streets of Coblentz by a baker; he drew out a sword and cut his aggressor then and there. Public opinion took his side, for had he let the affront pass he must have left the army; as it was he was tried by the court-martial, and sentenced to a month's imprisonment, not for killing a baker, but for having a street quarrel with such a person.

Among officers, duels are quite frequent, and yet not quite so frequent as seems to be imagined. Yet punctilious respect for hierarchy, a close observance of the forms of social etiquet, tend to minimize the quarrel; and then there are courts of honor before which disputes must be laid before the permission to fight is given, so that a mere truculent bravo could not win himself a reputation at the sword's point, nor tease his comrades by his importunacy. Generally speaking, German officers are polite to a degree which far transcends the proverbial courtesy of Frenchmen, while towards civilians they practice a refinement of etiquet which is intended to put a proper distance between themselves and interlopers.

The Roman Race Running to Ruin.

[The Tartan.]

If there is to be so much head work, what will become of us all? If both men and women are to develop more and more their brains, we shall soon be not far from the realization of the words of Diderot, who said: "We walk so little, we work so little, and we think so much, that I do not despair of man ending by being nothing but a head." Figure to yourself civilized men one hundred or two hundred years hence when manual labor shall have been entirely replaced by machinery, and when the dreams of socialists shall have been realized, and man, even in the lower grades of society, shall be able to gain his livelihood by working three or four hours out of the twenty-four. The tendency, you will observe, is constantly to reduce the hours of labor. In many parts of England, for instance, the hours of labor are little more than half what they were fifty years ago. Imagine, then, the movement spoken of by Diderot constantly progressing, and man walking less and less, owing to the increased facilities of communication and locomotion, and working less and less, owing to the constantly increasing use and perfection of machinery, and thinking more and more, out of pure distraction and out of the ennui of civilization! Imagine woman, thanks to the realization of the project of Mr. Camille See, and to the establishment of Girton colleges all over the world, imagine woman walking even less than she does now, working less and thinking more and more! What shall we come to, great Darwin? Does not the theory of evolution point to the inevitable realization of Diderot's words? will not our legs wither away and return to the rudimentary stage like our tails? Will not our arms and body diminish, and muscles for which there is no longer any use dry up, and their elements be absorbed by the brain and head, which will acquire the phenomenal proportions of caricature?

A day or two ago, when a young man entered a Detroit lawyer's office to study law, the practitioner sat down beside him, and said,

"Now, see here, I have no time to fool away, and if you don't put out well I won't keep you here thirty days. Do you want to make a good lawyer?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, now, listen. Be polite to old people, because they have cash. Be good to the boys, because they are growing up to a cash basis. Work in with corporations and get pulls. Go to church for the sake of example. Don't feel any time sorry for poverty and don't even look at a girl until you can plead a case! If you can follow these instructions you will succeed. If you can't, go and learn to be a doctor and kill your best friends."

It is a singular fact that when man always understands that it was a $3 silk hat, while the lover is equally confident that a $5 kid hat was implied.

If we had no faults ourselves, we should not have so much pleasure in discovering the faults of others.

A fashionable London preacher recently said: "St. Paul remarks, and I partially agree with him—"

BODIE, MARCH 21, 1880.

SAN FRANCISCO AGENCY.—L. P. Fisher, 21 Merchants' Exchange, is our Agent, and is authorized to contract for advertising, receive subscriptions and make collections on our account.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

Gannon, the agitator, will be sentenced to-day by Judge Rix, of San Francisco.

Madam Belloc committed suicide in San Francisco on Thursday.

San Francisco had a $5,000 fire on Thursday night.

G. F. Parker has been lecturing in New York on the Chinese, and gave the New Yorkers to understand that they are a desirable class to have in their midst.

A Providence, R. I., paper charges corruption in the Republican State Convention of those Island.

Parsons, the murderer of Mrs. Withey, was hanged at Rochester yesterday.

It is reported that the President will appoint two Commissioners to negotiate a new Chinese Treaty.

It is supposed that James D. Angell will be nominated for Minister to China.

A white child has been born at Roxborough N. C., with four hands; two trunks; with heads at each end; and no legs. It is apparently healthy.

Too Much Fuss.—Postmaster-General Key says that he intends to postpone action on the report of his Department officials concerning Wells, Fargo & Co's letter-carrying business until he obtains the views of the Pacific Coast Congressional delegation on the subject, and that he will also wait to hear arguments of any persons who may wish to come here, within a reasonable time, to present them.

As every letter carried by this express company is graced with Uncle Sam's postage stamp, it looks to us as though Government was making too much fuss over this matter. If Wells, Fargo & Co. wish to carry Uncle Sam's letters let them do it. It is a great convenience to the people of the Pacific Coast, and should not be interfered with.

Irish-American Republicans.—The Irish-American Republican Club of Chicago have issued an address setting forth the importance of the forthcoming Presidential Convention. The high-handed proceedings in Congress, in Maine and in the Southern States, by which the Democrats seek to gain power in spite of the result of elections, and calling a National Irish-American Republican Convention, to assemble in some central portion, probably Cincinnati, after the Republican National Convention, to ratify the nomination of the Republican party and issue an address to their countrymen; to appoint a national committee and form a compact national organization.

Edmund's Electoral Count bill provides for a meeting of Presidential Electors on the second Monday in January, instead of the second Wednesday in December, and provides for a State disposition of any controversy under such laws as it may have in existence before choosing Electors—the two Houses of Congress to proceed in conformity with the decisions of the respective States.

Senator Booth has introduced a bill to restore the Fort Reading (California) Military Reservation to the public domain, and confirming all patents heretofore granted for any lands within its limits. It also provides for the recognition of the rights of the present settlers to acquire titles under the homestead and preemption laws on this reservation the same as if these settlements had been on public lands.

Defeated.—There are a number of men in the Assembly who have been doing their utmost this Winter to break down, or in some manner cripple, the mining industries of the State, but their efforts have amounted to nothing, excepting the loss of time that might have been given to other matters of legislation, as all the mining bills so far acted on have been defeated.

Representative Wright of Pensylvania on Tuesday filed a petition in the House from citizens of California, praying for the enactment of a law to make lands held under Spanish land grants subject to entry in the General Land Office. Why was it not presented by one of our own Congressmen?

The sheep owners are driving their flocks into Tulare county, as the rate is lower than in Kern county, and after the Assessor makes his rounds they will drive them back to Kern.

An Army.—The Citizens' Protective Union, San Francisco, the organization of which has caused Denis Kearny to go a little slow, have enrolled a sizable army—20,000 men.

During the past seven months five hotels have burned between Mendocino City and Bridgeport, Mendocino County, a distance of twenty miles.

The ice on Eagle Lake, Lassin county, is nearly fifteen inches thick, the entire surface of the lake being frozen, and not likely to break up very soon.

The General Postoffice, Cape Town, has been robbed of all diamonds awaiting shipment by mail, valued at £75,000.

A sturgeon, nine feet, ten inches long, and weighing 300 pounds, was recently caught in the Sacramento river.

Ex-Governor Blasdel is going East.

Telegraphic.

COAST.

Postponed.

San Francisco, March 19.—In the police court, this morning, sentence of Gannon, agitator, postponed until to-morrow.

Railroad.

The Southern Pacific Railroad is completed to Tucson to-day. The people of that place welcomed the locomotive with imposing ceremonies.

Fire and Suicide.

San Francisco, March 19.—A fire in East street, near Oregon street, to-night, destroyed six small frame shanties. Loss about $5,000.

Mrs. Hyppolite Belloc, wife of Hyppolite Freres, of the firm of Belloc, Freres & Bonkers, committed suicide this afternoon in the old Mission Cemetery, by poison. Domestic trouble is the supposed cause.

EASTERN.

Russia and China.

New York, March 19.—The Herald's St. Petersburg special says: I am in a position to state that Russia will decline to hold communication with the new Chinese Embassador, until his Government has ratified the Leridia treaty and I am, also, informed that the Chinese are already making inroads into Russian territory. The imbroglia grows more complicated daily. The St. Petersburg press stands aghast at the sudden energy of a nation whose territory had come to be considered the natural prey of Russia. It is chagrined by the universal civilities that are now being exchanged between the Hong Kong and certain governments. By this unexpected change of front on part of English settlers in China with respect to Governor Hennessey's pro-Chinese policy, and by the friendly sentiments constantly expressed by Lehung Chung toward the administration of Lord Beaconsfield, it finds significance in the attention which so now being directed to the defense of Shanghai, where Gattling guns are being introduced, volunteers drilled and the scattered residences of foreigners collected into a well-armed center. There is indeed no part of China from which grave news is not daily brought to trouble ministry of the Czar, and induce the belief that the course of Russian encroachment in Central Asia is at last to suffer a serious check.

Mining Bill.

Washington, March 19.—The House Committee on mining to-day continued its consideration of that portion of the Public Land Commissioners report which relates to mineral lands. The majority decided to approve the section abolishing ledge locations, and was in favor of the adoption of the common law system, bounding claims by vertical lines. The majority who voted to fix the maximum area of mining claims at 963 square feet, or a perallelogram equivalent to these dimensions, which comprise about 21 acres, provided the length shall not in any case exceed 1500 feet, and to give the locator one years time, after discovery of minerals to perfect his title by paying $2,50 per acre for his claim, instead of five dollars, as at present. He is also allowed to hold his claim for 12 months by merely staking it off and applying for a survey. A minority of the committee dissent from all these propositions, and the bill is still open to amendment in regard to them or any other feature, until the Committee takes final action on it as a whole.

Washington, March 19.—The House went into a Committee of the Whole on the special deficiency bill. After a spirited debate, Ewing appealed to Democrats to accept Garfield's compromise, and modify these bad election laws, so as to make them non-partisan, otherwise the cry of nullification would go up all over the north Hawley excitedly declared that the Republican party tendered no compromise; it execrated the word. Springer's amendment to Garfield's substitute, providing that a general deputy marshals be appointed by the U. S. Judges, was adopted. Also the amendment that deputy marshals shall not receive over three days pay. Frye, in Garfield's absence, disclaimed that he offered a compromise.

Corruption.

Providence, March 19.—The Evening Press, independent Republican, says: "editorially; The Convention owes it to the party to meet the statement, so generally admitted to be true, that the nomination for Governor was sold for money. We charge, that a leading agent of the parties management offered the nomination to Lieut-Governor Howard, if he would pay $5,000 for registry taxes and election expenses. Littlefield either paid money or pledged himself to do so. The Postmaster of Providence carried out a similar agreement.—Howard says, "I was given plainly to understand that if I gave $5,000 I could have the nomination for Governor."

Chris.encey's Troubles.

New York, March, 19.—Washington's specials gives long tales of trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Christencey, wherein the latter charges her husband with having sold his Senatorial seat to Chandler for value received. She, also, says he has made his will in favor of his favorite son.

A Monstrosity.

Roxboxough, N. C., March 19.—A white child has been born here with four hands, two trunks, twenty-four ribs each; and a head at each end, but no legs. In attempting to crawl each head is in an opposite direction; and each body is independent as to hunger and thrist; and both go to sleep at the same time. The child is apparently healthy.

Hanging.

Rochester, N. Y. March 19th.—Parson, the murderer, broke down this morning, crying and protesting his innocence of crime of murdering Withey. The execution took place at 12:40 o'clock. On the scaffold he declared his innocence.

"Heathen Chinee."

New York, March 19.—Gifford F. Parker delivered a lecture last night on China and the Chinese, it being a business man's experience in China. He describes the Government of the country as being in many respect like that of America. He bore testimony to the extreme cleanliness of the Coolies and to their honesty. He said he had five men servants while residing in the country, and had no reason to believe they stole anything. The mode adopted for getting Chinese emigrants to San Francisco was dwelt upon at length.

The Chinese were faithful in payment of debts. [The lecture was highly landatory of the race that Californians wish to get rid of, so we do not care to give the dispatch in extenso.—Eds. Chronicle.]

Chinese Mission.

Washington, March 19th.—Further inquiry to-day relating to the Chinese Mission discloses the fact that the nomination of Seward's successor will probably be transmitted to the Senate much earlier than anticipated. It is reported on high authority that for this position the President determined in favor of James D. Angell, President of Michigan University. His name may possibly be sent in this week. From some source it is learned that the President will soon nominate to the seat two Commissioners to proceed to China to negotiate a new treaty. One of these Commissioners will be from the Pacific Coast, and one from the east. The latter will probably be a Democrat.

After working three days and nights the men searching for the bodies of Ward and Osborne, who were buried in the snow slide on the west side of the White Pine mountain, became discouraged and quit work. The men cannot possibly be alive, and a search for them at this time is thought to be worse than useless.

Minister to China.—It is thought that the chances are favorable for the appointment of Hon. John F. Swift, of San Francisco, Minister to China, now that Seward will have to resign or be kicked out of that position, and it will be very acceptable to Californians of all parties.

The United States Government has filed papers in a suit against the El Dorado Flume and Lumber Company for $87,000, for timber cut off Government land by Yerington, Bliss & Co. et al. There is also a similar suit against Yerington, Harvey & Bliss for $12,000.

In Nevada county there is yet no water for hydraulic mining. An old miner says that during twenty years' experience he has never, until this season, been obliged to wait till after March 1st before beginning washing.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, MARCH 30, 1880.

The CHRONICLE Office is on the second floor of "Goodson's Building," east side of Main street, between Standard Avenue and Green.

JOB PRINTING.—Job printing of the finest description will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

PRINTERS' WAGES.—We were in hopes that our cotemporaries would have accepted the situation and ceased dishing up a mess of whinings over the advent of the DAILY BODIE CHRONICLE. But the Standard is still harping on it. On Thursday it devoted a half-column to what the Bentonian said about "Rats." We reiterate that we pay the rates paid by the Standard up to the time the News was published. The News offered 10 cents more than ruling rates, and the Standard advanced on that stupid proposition 5 cents more, and, being in the hand of creditor printers it dare not go back and advocate the old rate of 50 cents per 1,000 ems. Its compositors were compelled to work for 50 cents at that time, but having had the pay advanced to 65 cents, they are loth to drop to their old figures. So far as we are concerned we do not intend to be dragooned into the folly of Paying such high prices. At 50 cents they are better paid than any other class of mechanics. For instance, on Sunday last one of our lady compositors earned $6 50. In our cotemporaries office it would be $8 45. Our lady compositors are content with their pay, and why should outsiders interfere with our business arrangements in this or any other respect. All we ask is to be "let alone," just as we intend to act toward our cotemporaries.

GREAT INTEREST.—Since the CHRONICLE started in as a daily, with lady compositors, the members of the Typograpical Union have taken a great interest in their welfare, and are very anxious that they should receive the same wages that they compel the Standard, News and Free Press to pay the members of that institution. Almost daily some of the "cusses" have the cheek to visit our office to try to influence our lady compositors to compel us to pay their high rates or leave us, but they know not that their efforts are and will be futile. They are satisfied to work in the CHRONICLE office, and we can assure the printers of this town that their room is better than their company to the lady compositors of this office.

MILL CREEK EXPRESS AGENT.—It is reported that H. N. H. Brown, who held the express agency of Wells, Fargo & Co. at Cornucopia, Nevada, for many years, has received the appointment of Agent for Wells, Fargo & Co. at Mill Creek, in Homer District, Mr. Brown stands high in the favor of that Company and his appointment is of significance to Mill Creek. He will pass through Bodie the latter part of April to open the new office. Mr. Brown's son is now residing at the Bodie Mill, and is well and favorably known here. Hurrah for Mill Creek!

DISMISSED.—This morning the case of J. P. Hammond came up before Justice Peterson, he being charged with an assault on Mrs. Wiley of the Oro House. On account of the non appearance of one of the witnesses for the prosecution—a bench warrant failing to bring him—the case was dismissed there being no possibility of a conviction without the defaulting witness. The Standard last night was in error in stating that Mrs. Wiley refused to testify against Hammond.

MILL CREEK.—One of our prominent citizens returned from Mill Creek on Thursday, and reports quiet times there at present. The Homer Co. is the only one at work. The May Lundy tunnel is to be run by contract, but the contractors will not commence work until about the 1st of April. The contractors are to run a 100-foot drift andexpect to have it completed by June 1st.

NEW MAP.—Surveyor Anderson, of this city, is preparing a new map of the mines of Bodie District, and will soon have it ready for the lithographer. Those wishing to have their mines shown should call on him at once. It will be the best map ever published of this District.

THE DILLON CASE.—The examination of Thomas Dillon for the murder of Travis, was continued before Justice Newman to-day. Only two witnesses were examined, when Justice Newman was taken sick. The case was then transferred to Justice Peterson's Court.

SLOPPY.—Our streets are getting in a miserable condition, consequent on the melting of the snow. One will soon require long rubber boots in which to navigate them.

SUNDAY DINNER.—To-morrow a turkey, chicken, and all kinds of wild game, dinner will be served at the Champion, where Mr. Walsh presides.

FOR SALE.—Kemp & Coleman have a lot on Green street, and also a sewing machine, for sale.

CONCERT HALL.—A masquerade ball to-night at Concert Hall, McAlpin's Opera House. See Advertisement.

FLURRY.—Early yesterday morning we had another light fall of snow.

It is not thought probable that Senator Sharon, who started homeward last Saturday, will re-occupy his seat this session.

Western nail manufacturers have agreed to stop all nail machines in the West for two weeks.

Sheep shearing has commenced in Kern county.
